

Psalm 18:7-19: "The Mountains Felt a Mighty Shock"

Tune: "A Mighty Fortress"

1. The mountains felt a mighty shock,
Trembling before his angry power
He made the earth to reel and rock
And from his mouth a flame devoured;
He rode on cherubim
On mighty rushing wind
Astride the thickened cloud
Before him heaven bowed
With darkness was he covered.
2. He thundered forth from high above
The Most High God, with glory crowned;
With hail and storm, a hearing of—
His voice of pow'r, a mighty sound;
He vanquished every foe
And scattered them below;
The channels of the sea
Before his voice now flee;
At his rebuke he bared the ground.
3. He sent from heaven, drew me out
From waters deep, he rescued me;
Delivered from my foes about,
Who mocked at my calamity;
He lifted by his grace
Into a broadened place
Where peace and safety are
My foes now banished far;
For he delights, delights in me!
